Bride's 22, groom's 79!

He's old enough to be her great-grandpa, but they're in love!

LOVEBIRDS Jack Wright and his devoted bride Pauline, who is 57 years younger than him.

Crippled retiree Jack Wright, 79, has found a wonderful new love — a devoted wife 57 years younger than he is!

The wrinkled romeo met his bride Pauline, 22, six years ago and waited patiently for her to grow up. Last month he married her in a touching ceremony after Pauline pushed his wheelchair down the aisle.

"I've never given a thought to the age gap," said Pauline whose new hubby is old enough to be her great-grandpa. "Jack's the only man I've ever been out with."

The couple first met in 1982 when Jack, a widower, was recovering from a stroke.

Pauline was a teenage high school student who lived down the street and when she heard Jack was sick, she visited the retired gas station attendant to cheer him up.

"She lived nearby and began popping in to do my shopping," recalled Jack, who lives in Newcastle upon Tyne, England. "She was very kind and the time and cuddle every now and then and pretty soon we found ourselves falling in love."

But the gray-haired groom courted his young love for six years before he made up his mind to ask her to marry him.

"I waited until I felt certain she was sure of me before popping the question," he explained. "And I nearly fell out of my wheelchair with delight when Pauline accepted."

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon at Jack's humble home, an apartment in an old folks' home.

They haven't decided yet whether they'll start a family.

WAITER Terry Finn tries out the new pregnancy suit.

OH MY ACHIN' BACK!

New pregnancy suit makes dads feel like moms-to-be

By JOE BERGER

Men can't get pregnant, but now they can discover just what it's like to be great with child — by strapping on a newfangled contraption that makes a fellow feel like he's just minutes away from the delivery room!

The bizarre garment gives a guy all the joyous sensations of expectant motherhood — including backache, shortness of breath, bladder pains and a 35-pound bulge jostling around up front.

"It'll give you just about everything but morning sickness and varicose veins," said prenatal counselor Lynda Ware.

"In 15 minutes a man can learn more about what his pregnant wife is going through than he ever could just by talking about it."

The Redmond, Wash., woman invented the "empathy belly" and formed a company called Birthways Inc. to market it.

The bulge is created by filling the vest's artificial tummy with varying amounts of water to simulate different stages of pregnancy.

Lead balls are stuffed into pockets on the hips and sides of the vest to press in on the rib cage as some babies' elbows and feet do, and a pendulum inside the tummy imitates the feel of a kicking fetus.

A band of cotton and elastic strapped around the chest makes certain the poor fellow inside the vest is constantly short of breath.

"We can create 20 separate symptoms of pregnancy for a prospective father in just a matter of minutes," the device's dedicated inventor told reporters.

"Men who've tried it become more understanding real fast. For some men it opens up a whole new world of feelings."

Dirty bumper sticker costs driver a red face and $65

A 22-year-old man was ticketed and hauled into court after a cop spotted a lewd bumper sticker on his car.

To top it off, Deyon Morgan was convicted in Broward County, Fla., and fined $65.

"I've never been in trouble before," said Morgan. "Now I feel stupid."

Officer Mike Scott of the police department in Plantation, Fla., pulled up behind Morgan's 1979 Oldsmobile and spotted a sticker that suggested the driver liked to "find women, have his way with them and forget them." Under Florida law, it is illegal to display bumper stickers that describe explicit Vince and Cherie Jackson adopted an adorable stray cat — and found out the male tabby has AIDS!

Now the courageous couple are planning to keep the cat anyway, even though researchers can't guarantee they won't catch the killer disease from their pet.

"We were devastated when we found out," said Vince, who lives in West Palm Beach, Fla. "Pete is just one part of the family. We asked the doctor what we could do and he said, 'nothing.'"

Experts say the feline AIDS virus, which was discovered only two years ago, has already spread through a portion of the cat population and threatens to spread even more widely. It is an extremely contagious disease that spreads like wildfire from cat to cat through cat bites. Already the disease affects more than 30 percent of cats in Europe.

Before long, cat owners across the country may have to decide whether to keep a cat with AIDS — or play it safe and have it put to sleep.

"I think we'll probably see more and more of it," said Dr. Jim Blank, president of the South Florida Veterinary Medicine Association.

Symptoms of cat AIDS are similar to those experienced by humans. When a cat contracts the virus, it loses weight and begins to act listless. It may suffer from low fertility and frequent infections, experts say.

"We don't have an estimate on how long they can live after they are infected," said Janet Yamamoto, a viro-immunologist at the University of California at Davis. "We predict they will have a shorter life, but we can't say by how much. The cats in our study aren't old enough yet."

The Jacksons say they plan to treat their tiger cat Max like a king so that he'll live as long as possible in spite of his deadly disease.

"We talk to him and show him a lot of love and affection," the pet owners said.

CAT lovers Cherie and Vince Jackson with poor Max.

More and more pet lovers will face this dilemma as disease spreads like wildfire

Boy shoots pregnant 12-year-old girlfriend, cops say

A 14-year-old teen was charged in the shooting death of a pregnant 12-year-old girl, who wanted to have her baby — and not an abortion.

Larhanda Wages was shot in the right cheek at point-blank range during a violent argument with her teenage boyfriend, cops said.

"He said they'd been discussing their relationship, the fact that she was pregnant, the fact that she wanted to have the baby, the fact that he wanted her to have an abortion," said Washington, D.C., Police Detective Joseph Schwartz Jr.

The boy, identified only as A.S., told cops he took a handgun from under a bed and was playing with it when he put the gun to her head, within several inches of her face, and shot her once.

"The boy said it was an accident . . . that he didn't mean to shoot her," said Detective Schwartz. "As with all cases I've handled like this, he said he was sorry.

Cops have charged A.S. with second-degree murder and unlawful possession of a handgun and ammunition. If convicted, he could be locked up in a juvenile detention center until he's 21.

City pays $3,000 in truant's suit

The city of Providence, R.I., has agreed to pay $3,000 to a girl who was held five hours by police because she skipped school.

The city didn't admit any liability but paid the money to former student Heather Price to settle her $4,500 lawsuit.

The girl said she suffered "emotional distress" after she was picked up by the police while walking downtown and put in a jail cell for five hours without being charged.

Witches' bizarre plot to bring Hitler back to life!

DEBORAH Kanuck told astonished cops she was Jack the Ripper's mother in a past life.

Women tried to kill human sacrifice — so The Fuhrer could return, say cops

By PETE COOKE

Shocked cops say three women trying to bring Jack the Ripper and Hitler back to life attacked a man with an axe, intending to hack him to pieces and devour his kidneys!

Milwaukee police Lt. Gary Marks said the victim, Jeffrey Meka, 26, suffered a gash to the forehead, but managed to escape from an apartment shared by two of the women.

"He went for the door and had a hard time getting out, but he made it," Lt. Marks said. "He kept running and never looked back."

Arrested were Deborah Kanuck, 28, Catherine Lipsham, 22, and Ramona Barry, 27. Authorities said Miss Kanuck told investigators she was Jack the Ripper's mother in a previous life. Miss Kanuck and her friends thought they could bring Jack the Ripper and Adolf Hitler back to life through human sacrifice, detectives said.

According to Lt. Marks, the modern-day witches spent the past six months roaming the streets of Milwaukee armed with knives, searching for a victim before settling on Jeffrey Meka.

CATHERINE Lipsham

The women met Meka at a park and Miss Barry later called him up, saying she was alone in the apartment she shared with Miss Lipsham and was frightened by a storm. Police said Meka went over to the apartment and watched TV with Miss Barry for a while before cornering himself heard a noise, drew back the shower curtain and discovered Miss Lipsham and Miss Kanuck hiding in the bathtub.

Miss Lipsham was chanting "Redrum," murder spelled backward, as Miss Kanuck swung an axe, striking Meka in the forehead, cops said. The two women tried to grab Meka as he bolted from the apartment.

Outside, a passing ambulance driver spotted Meka running down the street and rushed him to a hospital where he required 30 stitches to close the wound in his head.

Authorities said that before Meka arrived at the apartment, the three women had discussed plans to kill him and drain his blood into the bathtub. They also talked about cutting up his corpse and eating his kidneys, police said.

The women were jailed on charges of attempted murder.

Kiddie book writer wins $755Gs in poker championship

By JACK ALEXANDER

A 24-year-old children's book writer outsmarted 177 other players to become the youngest person ever to win the prestigious World Series of Poker.

He beats out a super card shark for big bucks pot

Poker-faced Phil Hellmuth Jr. whipped two-time series champ Johnny Chan in the last hand at a Las Vegas casino to win $755,000.

"This is absolutely fantastic. I thought I was dreaming for a moment there," said Hellmuth of Madison, Wis. "But when the realization hit me I just threw my arms up in the air and yelled 'Yeah.'"

Hellmuth and Chan, 31, faced each other in the final hand after four grueling days of play.

Hellmuth called the last hand and won with "kings and aces."

"This is the pinnacle of poker," said super happy Hellmuth. "It's what every poker player dreams of winning." He plans to invest his winnings — "very carefully."

Hellmuth, a poet who also writes children's books and novels, received a World Series of Poker gold bracelet to go with the bundle of cash from Binion's Horseshoe Hotel and Casino.

Runnerup Chan was trying to become the first person ever to win the championship three straight years. He won $382,000.

Dan Harris of Niagara Falls, N.Y., finished third and won $151,000. Steve Lesi of Victoria, Tex., fourth, $82,000, and Lyle Berman of Minneapolis, Minn., $47,000.

Nephew kills himself after favorite uncle dies in car wreck he caused

By STEVE YERDUN

A 20-year-old man shot and killed himself after his uncle died in a car crash that he caused!

Police in Foster, Australia, confirmed that Sean Mead blew his brains out four days to the hour after he lost control of his car and slammed into a tree, killing his uncle, Mark Ryan, 22.

Cops had no motive for the suicide. But people who knew Mead said he loved his uncle like a brother ... and would have been miserable living without him.

"It wasn't guilt that made him kill himself, it was love," Ryan's wife Fay told reporters. "There was definitely a strong love between them.

"They were never apart. They did everything together. Sean lived in Mark's shadow and he died in Mark's shadow. For him there was no other way.

"I don't think he could have lived without him."

The tragic drama unfolded when Ryan, who owned a house-moving company, and Mead were driving home after finishing a job in Foster.

Mead, who was behind the wheel, suddenly lost control, swerved off the road and hit a tree. Dazed but uninjured, Mead took off on foot to get help for Ryan, who was unconscious and losing blood fast.

By the time Mead got to a phone and summoned an ambulance, Ryan was dead.

"We offered to take Mr. Mead to the hospital for a checkup but he asked us to take him home," Sgt. Wylie Blake of the Foster Police Department told newsmen.

"About 20 minutes later we got a call from one of his neighbors. She said she heard a gunshot at Mr. Mead's house.

"We found his body in the kitchen. He had shot himself in the right temple."

SEAN Mead, left, couldn't live without his uncle Mark Ryan, right, who died in a car crash while Sean was driving.

Scott Graves, who worked with Ryan and Mead, said: "It's not going to be easy getting up without them.

"But it's a comfort to know that wherever they are, Mark and Sean are together — just like they were in life."

Pistol-packin' pensioners rob bank to pay their bills!

GRANNY AND CLYDE

Cops nab 'em when they stop for a red light

By PETE COOKE

A desperate pair of grandparents decided to raise some quick cash by holding up a savings and loan bank — after they fell behind on their mortgage payments!

British authorities said the botched robbery began when Herbert Butler, 68, and his 60-year-old wife, Ellen, shuffled into the London offices of Abbey National and demanded money.

A teller took one look at the couple and said, "Don't be silly." Then she noticed the pistol in Butler's hand and gave him $8,700 while alerting manager Joan Hodges that a robbery was in progress.

Mrs. Hodges set off the security camera, called the police and followed the Butlers as they fled so she could jot down their license plate number.

The couple was arrested moments later as they sat waiting for a red light to change.

"All right, all right, you've caught us," Butler told the arresting officers. "But go easy on the wife because she has a bad heart and a problem with her nerves."

When he and his wife appeared in court to plead guilty Butler said he made several mistakes in planning the heist.

"I told the wife to stay in the car," he said. "But the next thing I knew she was standing next to me holding a toy pistol."

Butler said he neglected to plot a getaway route, drove his own car and committed the robbery early in the morning when the streets were empty.

"There was no one on the road except us and the police," he said. "I knew I was going up for this sort of caper," Butler added. "I was praying they wouldn't come after me. I wouldn't have run away. I smoke too much and my legs wouldn't have put up with it."

Butler told authorities that he and his wife would have never turned to crime if they hadn't fallen behind on their mortgage payments.

The couple is now awaiting

After innocent woman complains about drug dealer next door . . .

Cops raid wrong house

By JACK ALEXANDER

Undercover cops responded to an angry mother's complaints about the next-door drug dealer, but they raided the wrong house — hers.

"They busted my front door down while I was gone, ransacked the place and left it a shambles," said outraged neighbor Terri Brown.

"These dude even ripped open sealed bag of a friend's cocaine! added I've been waiting to bust 'em," he said. "I hope they thought it was crack and busted it."

Mrs. Brown, who works as an accountant, and her neighbors in Santa Ynez, Calif., complained for months about the crack cocaine dealer.

Police sent an informant to buy "crack" at the house and got a search warrant — but it was for the wrong address.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Brown, her son, and her mother had just left on a trip to Oakland when police returned to the neighborhood with the warrant.

"My neighbors tried to tell the dudes they had the wrong house but they wouldn't listen to them," said Mrs. Brown. "They emptied drawers scattering clothes all over the place and even looked under my mattresses. Naturally, they didn't bother to put anything back."

"My puppy got loose while they were tearing the inside of my house upside down," she said. "They looked through my personal and legal papers. A lawsuit couldn't have done a more thorough job."

The startling police raid occurred last year without finding any drugs.

Mrs. Brown returned home somewhat dazed and found her battered front door wide open. "I called police to complain, but since it was a Friday they couldn't help me until Monday," she said.

Embarrassed police have since apologized to Mrs. Brown, who has moved to another neighborhood.

City councilman Joe Serna is trying to get her compensation for the damages.

"It was an honest mistake," said Serna. "But we don't want it to happen again."

King-sized blunder left Terri Brown's home in shambles

SNOOTY CRITICS SAY DUSTIN COMES UP SHORT!

PINT-SIZED superstar Dustin Hoffman was blasted by snooty British theatre critics for his size as well as for his acting ability

American superstar Dustin Hoffman's stage debut in London with a crew of English actors in one of Shakespeare's greatest plays was slammed by snooty English critics who called him a runt and blasted his acting.

His performance in Shakespeare's play is a big deal!

Milton Shulman, the critic for the Evening Standard said of Dusty's performance in the Merchant of Venice:

"Dustin Hoffman is at a considerable disadvantage in undertaking Shylock in London because he is American and short."

Michael Billington of The Guardian also made fun of Dusty's pint-sized 5-foot-6 frame writing.

"Mr Hoffman offers a modest, low-key, small-scale Shylock."

Dusty was lauded as courageous for taking the job in the flick Rain Man with a costarring part in the Merchant in London — where critics get nasty over Americans who try to take on their holy Shakespeare.

"The worst I can do is fall flat on my face," quipped Dusty.

Audiences have packed the performances and applauded the movie star soldier. But critics acted unimpressed.

"The clamorous hype and simmering expectation is a poor preparation for the modest Shylock who arrived on the stage last night," wrote Times critic Irving Wardle.

College 'sells' boxing champ degree for a measly $25Gs

A small community got shocked by a newspaper exposure for selling struggling champ Mike Tyson an honorary degree in exchange for a $25,000 donation.

"It was embarrassing. It was said in an alternate," wrote Paul Daugherty of the Kansas Kansas newspaper at Cowpat State University in Walker Point, Ohio, which gave Mike an honorary doctorate.

Mike's newspaper speech turned out to be a bit riddle.

"I don't know what kind of doctor I am," said the champ. "But watching all these beautiful sisters here . . . I'm debating whether I should be a gynecologist."

Walter Paul was furious over the entire affair making it clear that Mike's honor was only granted in return for a whopping donation.

"What Central State did was what countless others had done before," he wrote. "It stuck its hands in Tyson's pockets. The university registered him in the name of higher learning, of course." — New Haven Register.

OUR ROCKBOTTOM INTRODUCTORY PRICE

Can't rust or corrode. Long lasting!

Now—at last . . . after arduous research and testing, a team of talented artisans from the Far East has created a Polyphonic 2000 antenna that doesn't just resemble a gigantic, million dollar parabolic dish antenna, but actually pulls in the entire range of TV channels from 2 through 83. Yet the brand-new antenna can easily fit a table-top as small as 1½ square feet—thus making it feasible for use in every house, apartment or office.

INSTALLS IN 1 MINUTE

Attach it to the back of your set with a screwdriver. Then switch on your set. That's all there is to it. As you know, the back side of all TV's is insulated against electricity. Therefore shocks are impossible. This Far East product also works nearly on all TV receivers. Made with tough metals and Space Age Components. Unless you hit it with a sledge hammer, it should last a mighty long time.

REPLACES WORN-OUT OUTDOOR ANTENNAS

Don't junk your old, worthy TV just because of a worn-out outdoor antenna. All you have to do is attach the dramatic Polyphonic 2000 onto the rear of your TV. Then, when you fine-tune it, notice how your video-audio power rushes in strong and clear. In seconds, your favorite, local programs become so sharp and color-bright, you won't believe your eyes and ears.

RICHER, SHARPER PICTURES

Even old, functioning TV sets perform better with this electronic wonder from the Far East. The difference it makes is marvelous. You get better pictures. Stronger sound and brighter color. So it doesn't pay to chuck out your old reliable set. Instead, it makes sense to get rid of that defective antenna and install a guaranteed Polyphonic 2000 that gives you good performance for low cost. You also save up to $200 for a fancy, new outdoor antenna. The decision is up to you.

EXCITING DESIGN AND PERFORMANCE

The exciting parabolic dish design will add a note of drama and charm wherever you display it in your home. There never was a home antenna like this before. It delivers the TV shows that give you movies, music, sports, information and worldwide news. And it puts you in control. Now you can fine-tune any channel from 2 to 83, compatible with location and local conditions. Unlike costly roof-top antennas, the Polyphonic 2000 doesn't rust or corrode because it stays indoors—safe from rain, snow, sleet or windstorms that may damage

5 Year Money Back Guarantee

WE AFFIRM that the Polyphonic 2000 Antenna is constructed with rugged metals and enduring Space Age components for many years of trouble-free service.

WE GUARANTEE that the Polyphonic 2000 must perform to your entire satisfaction for at least 5 years from purchase date or return antenna for money back

Skin diver shoots his chubby mother-in-law with a spear gun!

By LAUREL BOWIE

Scheming skin diver Karl Bell blew a hole in his meaty mother-in-law with an underwater spear gun — then tried to convince cops he mistook her for a Great White shark!

"I saw this big thing coming at me through the water and my eyes played a trick on me," counseling Karl, 33, told a court in Lubeck, West Germany.

45 Original Recordings by the Great Stars of That Golden Era

It was one of the greatest moments in our history — a time of celebration and joy — of family reunions and love ever after. And it was the golden age of America's popular music — the Hit Parade — the bobby soxers — and all the great men of our Armed Forces who came marching home to the sounds from America's bandstands. The Andrews Sisters promising that I'LL BE WITH YOU IN APPLE BLOSSOM TIME . . . Glenn Miller's I'VE GOT A GAL IN KALAMAZOO . . . and the song on everyone's lips as the lights came on again, TOGETHER sung by Dick Haymes and Helen Forrest — the very special melodies and words that were a part of our lives and still are.

Every soldier, sailor and marine who endured the time of separation from loved ones will remember the thrill of that first homecoming embrace. It was a moment that will live forever in our hearts and in the music that helped keep the home fires burning — in such songs as LONG AGO AND FAR AWAY sung so beautifully by Bob Eberly and Helen O'Connell — ALL OR NOTHING AT ALL by Harry James and Frank Sinatra — Kate Smith's immortal rendition of GOD BLESS AMERICA . . . Benny Goodman's famous JERSEY BOUNCE . . . PAPER DOLL and TILL THEN by the Mills Brothers . . . and the great Artie Shaw unforgettable STAR DUST. Here are 45 original classics that will rekindle your warmest memories of that precious era when America's boys came home. It is a collection you will cherish and enjoy for years to come. GAS BLAST SCARS TEEN FOR LIFE!

Excited schoolgirl Margaret Mochan was set to begin the best vacation of her life when a gas leak exploded like a bomb — and turned the terrified teenager into a raging ball of fire!

The holocaust killed two of her aunts and left heartsick Margaret, 17, hideously scarred from her knees to the top of her head. Only stumps remain where her fingers used to be.

"My life and most of my dreams simply went up in flames," the devastated young lady told reporters in Falkirk, Scotland.

"The doctors say I'll never be able to work, never be able to do so many things I want to do.

"Sometimes I get a little depressed."

But after months of almost unbearable pain and countless rounds of skin-graft surgery, the feisty girl is determined to fight back.

She vows to make the best of the ghastly hand fate has dealt her.

"I'm going to keep smiling and lead as normal a life as I possibly can," she said.

"I may even get married and have children some day.

"I have a lot of wonderful friends who make sure I get out and do fun things. I know through hell, but you can't just sit down and hope or you won't get anywhere."

Scarred Margaret's ordeal chilling ordeal began shortly after she and her aunts checked into a Torbay vacation villa in Lloret de Mar, Spain.

The happy-go-lucky ladies hadn't even unpacked when gas from a leaky oven exploded, blowing their villa to smithereens.

"All I remember is a terrible blast, and then it seemed like my whole body was on fire," Margaret recalled with a shudder.

"It hurt so bad and there was no way I could get it out."

Bystanders managed to save the scrawny teen's life and surgeons have done all they can to rebuild her fire-ravaged face.

But nothing can protect her from the cruel stares and taunts of heartless strangers.

"I know I'm not pretty to look at, but people don't have to stare at me like I'm some

My life went up in flames, says brave burn girl

BEFORE the devastating explosion, Margaret was a pretty teenager who looked forward to life. "It'll be tough but I'm going to keep smiling," the feisty girl vows.

Margaret told reporters. "I'm not a freak. Underneath all that, I'm the same person I always was."

Today's college kids put sex before religion, says new poll

A vast majority of college students say religion is an important part of their lives, but admit they don't let that interfere with their sexual behavior.

A recent study by Broadcasting Networks found that although 80 percent of the students asked said religion is important to them, most believe in premarital sex and living together.

"On the one hand, we were pleased that the majority of [illegible] said religion was important to them," said Byram Norman, a senior editor at the networks.

"But we were disappointed to see that even though they believe in God, their faith doesn't seem to have much of an effect on their personal lives and habits."

New studies say eating candy makes it [illegible] to give up cigarettes

People who quit smoking tend to pack on the pounds because they develop a sudden craving for sweets, new studies show.

Some researchers believe the sugar in candy bars and other fattening goodies may help relieve the symptoms of nicotine withdrawal.

But does say we should do our best to dodge temptation, even if we then have to fight the battle of the bulge.

"The risk of a five-pound or ten-pound weight gain is tiny compared with the risk of continued smoking," said Dr. Ellen Gritz of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Undertaker buried families' dearest Bodies buried without coffins!

An undertaker who buried dozens of bodies without coffins and piled trash into graves has pleaded guilty to fraud.

Bobby Wilks III, Calhoun, Tenn., sold $1,800 coffins to families, then buried their dead in cardboard caskets that quickly disintegrated in the graves.

The body of one stillborn baby was found wrapped only in a plastic bag about 18 inches underground.

Investigators opened more than 30 graves while looking into the scandal. They found trash tossed into some of the graves.

WW2 fighter that vanished in 1942 lands in Russia ... with a skeleton at the controls

CAPT. Claus Siegert disappeared over Russia in 1942. Soviets say the pilot still sits at the controls of the plane that landed in Minsk

By MIKE TENNANT

A German fighter plane that flew over the Eastern Front in 1942 has just landed at a Soviet airport with a skeleton at the controls — 46 years later!

The BF 109-G plane appears to be in good condition although it reportedly shows "definite signs of ageing."

There was no immediate explanation for the vintage warplane's mysterious appearance in Soviet airspace. Russian officials were equally baffled by the skeleton pilot's perfect landing at the Minsk airport on the morning of June 5.

"I don't think it's overreaching the case to call this one of the greatest riddles in aviation history," Dr. Arnulf Kircher, the West German World War 2 military historian, told reporters in Frankfurt.

"The Soviets haven't released anything they know about the plane and pilot. But press dispatches from Moscow indicate that the plane was out of fuel and crashed near the Minsk airport.

"The pilot was identified as Luftwaffe Capt. Claus Siegert, who vanished on a reconnaissance flight in a Focke-Wulf 190 over the Soviet Union on Dec. 5, 1942. I really don't know what to make of all this. I don't think the Russians do either. All we really know is a warplane that vanished in 1942 has reappeared almost 50 years later."

Soviet authorities were reluctant to divulge details of the mission than was included in sketchy newspaper reports. They did confirm that Capt. Siegert was shot to death while flying the plane.

Judging from the pilot's skeleton, one ruptured vertebra, they estimated that Capt. Siegert was killed at some point during his 1942 mission.

Werner Kaiz, the West German physicist, is one of dozens of Western scientists who have offered to assist the Soviets in their investigation of the phantom plane.

Waitress wins $790G from bosses who made her walk through sewage!

Waitress Deborah Bailey waded through raw sewage to keep her job — and nearly lost her life.

Now an angry court has ordered her former employers to pay her $790,000 in damages, ruling that the El Cerrito, Calif., mom's health problems began after she was forced by her bosses to walk through filthy toilet overflow to serve her customers.

It was 'wade in filth or be fired,' says woman who got sick and almost died

Mrs. Bailey, 33, claimed in a lawsuit against Foodmaker Inc. that the sewage caused severe staph infections that hospitalized her six times in two years. She was bedridden for months and her health is so poor she years afterward that she can no longer work.

"Thank God this nightmare is over," the pretty divorcee said when the California Court of Appeals ruling was announced. "Money will never compensate me for my health, my life and the way I feel. But at least now I can pay my bills and compensate the people who took care of me for two years."

Mrs. Bailey fell ill in 1983 while working at a restaurant owned by Foodmaker Inc. The restaurant — a place in Emeryville, Calif., called Carlos Murphy's — had trouble with the rest rooms and sewage overflowed into the bar area.

When waitresses complained to management about having to slog through two inches of sewage they were told to keep working or be fired.

For several hours, Mrs. Bailey slumbed through water in which human waste and toilet paper floated. Water splashed up to her knees, but Mrs. Bailey and several other waitresses continued serving customers in a dry portion of the restaurant.

About a week later, Mrs. Bailey — who was working to support herself and a 3-year-old daughter — came down with painful sores and a fever. She was hospitalized with a deadly infection and grew so sick that she was no longer able to care for herself or her daughter.

"At the time I felt like I had AIDS," her former waitress recalled. "Nobody would come near me. I lost my friends. I felt like a leper."

After she was let out of the hospital Mrs. Bailey filed a workers' compensation claim against the restaurant — and got fired. She was evicted from her apartment, she could no longer work and her medical bills mounted steadily. Finally she grew so depressed she attempted suicide.

"I was devastated," recalled Mrs. Bailey. "I felt like my whole lifestyle was gone. I just couldn't get past the disgust and the devastation of losing everything."

In desperation, Mrs. Bailey sued her former employer and won a whopping $3.5 million judgment. Foodmaker appealed and the damages were reduced — but the courageous waitress will still have enough to pay her debts and return to a normal life.

"To this day, things will never be the way they were before all this happened," she said. "But at least now I can get on with my life."

Sicko caller told women he was doing cancer survey

When a caller posing as an American Cancer Society worker asked her if her breasts were firm or bouncy, an angry woman knew a weirdo was on the line.

The man said he was conducting a survey and some of his questions might appear personal, but the answers would be used for breast and cervical cancer research.

He asked the woman's height, weight and breast size. But when he asked if her breasts were firm or bouncy, "that's when I knew he had a dirty mind," she said.

American Cancer Society officials in Pinellas County, Fla., said the caller, who says he has phoned hundreds of women, doesn't work for them.

Fred Flintstone in hot water for calling Indians savages!

Fred Flintstone has been censored by a TV station that pulled one of the cartoon character's episodes off the air, claiming it portrayed Indians as savages.

Canadian broadcasting officials said they acted after receiving a complaint about the Flintstones episode from a city councilman in Regina.

In the episode Fred Flintstone and his pal Barney Rubble happen upon a movie set where a cowboys and Indians film is being made.

They don't know it is a movie and when chased by the Indians the term savages is used.

CKCK-TV station manager Mel Friesen agreed that about five seconds of dialogue in the episode are racist and said his station will never air the offending episode again.

Birth control implants work for 5 years

Americans may soon be able to purchase a birth control device capable of preventing pregnancy for five years.

Officials of a Philadelphia drug company called Wyeth-Ayerst said the device, called Norplant, could be available in less than six months.

Norplant consists of six capsules of a hormone similar to those in birth control pills. The device is implanted under the skin of a woman's upper arm in a brief and totally painless surgical procedure, experts say.

Norplant has been tested around the world and is now available in 13 countries.

Divorced dads with custody adjust better than moms do

Divorced dads who have custody of their kids seem to adjust better than divorced mothers who have custody, says a startling new research study.

Sociologists at the University of California at Irvine found that in the first three years after a divorce, women were more likely to feel trapped and bored, stressed by parenting and unable to achieve their goals.

Dads with custody, on the other hand, were much better adjusted psychologically, the study found.

One reason may be that men put more emphasis on their careers, while the women were worried about not being part of a couple, the researchers said.

The study examined 30 divorced fathers and 30 divorced mothers.

Hubby's revenge

A man who blamed his wife for getting him jailed got his revenge by flooding her with mail order items she didn't want!

According to court testimony in Reading, England, John Agar signalled his wife in five book clubs. He also ordered dozens of record albums, bathroom equipment and expensive but useless brick-a-brac — all in her name.

At least 250 items were delivered to the woman's home in less than six months. Agar, 51, was charged with deception in connection with the incident.

I howled all night after he called me a dog!

Dear Dotti: I met this wonderful guy and I'm just crazy about him. Until recently I thought he liked me, too.

I guess we'd been going out together for about six weeks when my best friend told me that Bob, that's just his real name, had been bad-mouthing me to his buddies.

My friend said Bob told his buddies that he was just going out with me because he didn't have anything better, and that as soon as something better came along he'd dump me — fast.

"I wasn't mad dumping her," he said, "because she's a real dog."

Well, after my friend told me about this I went home and lay on the bed and cried for hours.

I don't believe Bob would talk like that about me to his friends. Knowing that I love him so much.

What should I do? Should I try to get him to like me better? I feel real shook. Maybe I should get some snake rattlers in [illegible] think it will help. I don't want to lose him. — Howling in Virginia

2 men want me but I like being alone

Dear Dotti: I fell out with a boyfriend because he had a drinking problem and wouldn't get help. I met another man and soon found out he wasn't much better either.

Now my husband is telling me that he's stopped drinking and wants us to settle back. My boyfriend has asked me to marry him. Both say they can't live without me.

I don't want to hurt either of them, but as of now I'm enjoying just being with my children.

I must make a decision soon. I'm afraid I really don't have to decide. What should I do? — Torn in Pittsburgh

Fiance is jealous of my modeling

Dear Dotti: After five months of dating my fiance asked me to marry him. But after some discussion we decided — I've gone together and get to know each other before making a commitment.

Now he is getting cold feet and says he wants me to hold off wearing a wedding dress. He says he doesn't know if he can handle me either.

I've been modeling since I was 18 and want to go on it's the most important thing in my life. I have reason to believe that I will be asked to go to Europe on assignment and I'm having a hard time trying to make a decision.

I believe that if he really loved me, he would want me to do happy with what I do for a living. He says that if I loved him enough I should take what he has to offer and be satisfied.

Developer sells tiny rooftop patios for $38,000!

The developer of a New York City apartment building is selling rooftop patios for $38,000 a pop!

"The roof has always been such a terrible waste of space," said Sheldon Stein of Jacob Stein Inc., a development company.

Most developers consider the roof for mechanical systems. We've made it into a luxurious area."

The rooftop patios are 1,000 square feet and sell for $38,000 plus maintenance fees of $129.92 a month. They are enclosed by a 6-foot high fence to allow owners to enjoy the sun in privacy.

TIDDLES the trout

Tiddles the trout gobbles up tankful of killer piranha

By JOHN WALSH

Tiddles the hungry trout jumped from his aquarium into another tank — and ate six ferocious piranha alive!

Now staffers at the Tropiquaria aquarium are threatening to put the 8-pound trout on a dinner plate — because piranha cost $20 apiece and were their top tourist attraction!

"That stupid fish ought to pay for what he did," fumed Harry Wiggins, who works at the aquarium in Wrothel, Kingland.

"He caused more damage in three minutes than we managed to do in a month. He ate our profits and would have eaten more if we hadn't gotten rid of the fish."

But what makes the event more sinister is that Tiddles knows what he did.

"There are times we walk by his tank he takes a big mouthful and gives us the evil eye," said Wiggins. "He wants us to think he's sorry for taking him out of the piranha tank before he might gobble them all up."

Tropiquaria director Sarah Gold said she was stunned by the fish's behavior.

She also made it clear that he'll have to be more alert in the future.

"I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it with my own eyes," said Mrs. Gold. "When I saw Tiddles leap three feet into the piranha tank, I thought he'd last about 10 seconds. But it was the piranha who were trying to escape from him.

"Normally, piranha are terribly aggressive. Tiddles obviously confused them and caused them to panic. I guess he figured almost five piranha are not much different from a full dozen.

"Tiddles enjoyed an expensive vegetarian meal."

Retired golfer Lewis Wright didn't pay the entry fee to win $15,000 in a hole-in-one contest and cursed that he shot a hole-in-one.

"I'll pay the $4 next time," said Wright of Asheboro, N.C. "I've paid in past years, but in the last couple of years I've had surgery and I haven't been playing well."

Wright made his ace with a 3-wood on the 165-yard par-3 eighth hole at Cypress Golf Club in Little River, S.C.

"When I go back home, my friends are going to rib me a little about not keeping the four bucks," he said.

IN'T HEAVY — HE'S OUR SON'

That's what devoted dad Dick Sullivan will tell you as he carries his stricken boy to the bathtub [illegible] to the living room [illegible] to the dining room table.

Dick Sullivan's back hurts. But you'll never hear him complain.

He'd carried his son in arms for six months after he was struck by lightning in 1965 and doctors declared he'd never regain consciousness. Today, he is [illegible] able to speak and [illegible] to stand on his own — progress he owes to the unyielding devotion of his mom and dad.

Dick and Marion Sullivan care for John 24 hours a day, bathing him, feeding him at the table and working with [illegible] therapists to push his therapy. Their faith has given John the courage to fight his paralysis — but it has also meant sacrifices that have brought the family to the brink of financial ruin.

"We've really mortgaged ourselves to the hilt to keep right on [illegible] for years and years," said Dick Sullivan, a farmer in Wyoming, Mich., who worries about the more than $3 million in medical bills John has racked up. Somehow he finds extra minutes and energy for his family all right.

Tailor gives cops perfect description of crook he'd just measured for a suit

Tailor Philip Smith was able to describe a man who robbed his shop with incredible detail — because he told cops he had just measured the geek for a suit!

"We've got a tailor-made description of the guy and we're looking for him," said Police Sgt. James Tivnan in Worcester, Mass.

Smith told police two men walked into his store and one of them wanted to be measured for a suit.

Smith grabbed his tape measure and obliged.

The customer was 5-foot-9, 148 pounds with a 14½-inch neck, 19-inch shoulders, 38-inch chest, 34-inch waist and 41-inch hips.

After Smith, 31, finished measuring the guy, the two men forced him into a back room where he was bound and gagged with duct tape.

The two men ransacked the rear of the shop, taking a camera, a watch and $36 from the cash register, Smith told police.

Smith's description of the second bandit wasn't quite as thorough. He said that crook was about 5-foot-4 and about 275 pounds.

Beat cancer with orange peels and strawberries

Eating foods like orange peel, strawberries and hot peppers can keep you cancer free, say scientists from the National Cancer Institute.

Orange peel contains substances called terpenes shown to put tumors in regression in lab tests, reports Redbook magazine.

Strawberries, guavas, cranberries and Brazil nuts may stop carcinogens from causing genetic damage in cells.

And researchers say hot peppers contain a substance that may cut the risk of colon cancer.

Immigrant races across U.S. to get to his citizenship ceremony

Marcos Dimagiu raced 3,000 miles by plane, bus, taxi and foot to get from Massachusetts to California in time to become a U.S. citizen.

"He was shivering, almost in tears and looking very as haunted when he got to the courthouse to be sworn in," Clerk Lorna Sonoma County Clerk said newsmen on Santa Rosa, Calif.

He was [illegible] and [illegible] late and the others had already been sworn in."

But Superior Court Judge William Bathwaite refused to let Dimagiu's determination go unrewarded. He personally administered the oath of citizenship to the bedraggled immigrant from Chile.

The drama began when Dimagiu applied for citizenship while he was living in Sonoma County.

Before a date for his naturalization was set, he moved to Massachusetts.

However, notice of the citizenship ceremony's date was mailed to his old Santa Rosa address.

And by the time it was forwarded to his new address in Massachusetts, he had less than 24 hours to get back to California.

He took a day off from work and flew from Boston to San Francisco. He hopped a bus to Santa Rosa, took a taxi to the courthouse — and ran into court.

Stolen money blows up in man's pocket

A 56-year-old man on his way to work found a bag of money in the street and stuffed it in his trousers — but he didn't know it would burn a hole in his pocket.

The money had been abandoned earlier by a bank robber when he discovered it contained an exploding packet of red dye.

Police put the dye in the bag with the loot to help track down the robber.

But the unsuspecting man who found the abandoned bag didn't even bother to count it as he boarded a bus in Baltimore, Md.

A few minutes later, he felt something explode and saw red smoke pouring from his pants.

Someone saw the smoke and notified a nearby bank. Police were called and found the man sitting on a curb with his pants off, nursing a burned right thigh.

Cops determined the man wasn't involved in the robbery. The bank robber is still being sought.

Teen ignored worried mom's warnings about THIS man . . .

& IT COST GIRL HER LIFE!

DAUGHTER Cheryl Kelly

BY PETE COOKE

Cheryl Kelly ignored her mother's warnings not to get involved with a strange young man she worked with — and it cost her her life.

"There was something about him," said Dolores Kelly of Chelsea, Mass. "I told my daughter to be careful. We all told her. But she loved him. They were supposedly engaged."

Mrs. Kelly last saw her 19-year-old daughter alive in April 1984, when she left on a camping trip with her boyfriend, Scott McLean, 24.

Cops recently found her body in the trunk of a car in a field about a mile from her home.

Chelsea Police Captain Thomas Keating said police officers rushed to the burial site on McLean's confession.

"McLean walked into a police station in Bend, Ore., where he has relatives, and confessed to killing Cheryl Kelly," Capt. Keating said. "He told the police there that he strangled her and buried her in a field."

McLean is being held on $25,000 bond in Oregon on charges and will be brought back to Massachusetts to face murder charges, said Capt. Keating.

Mrs. Kelly said her daughter met McLean when both worked at Nancy Sales Co., a textile manufacturer in Chelsea. The unemployed man told and wooed Cheryl almost going out with McLean, but her daughter wouldn't listen.

After Cheryl's disappearance Mrs. Kelly lived in limbo not knowing what had happened to her daughter and fearing the worst. Then McLean confessed.

"I don't have an inkling for what happened to her," Mrs. Kelly said. "I can't swallow it. I can't put it all together. I've lived figuring out what happened, what went wrong. I always knew he did something to my daughter. I couldn't put my finger on it."

Cops admitted they were initially baffled by the case that began when Cheryl failed to return from the camping trip with her boyfriend.

"It was like she dropped off the face of the earth," said Detective Sgt. Frank Gaeta.

At the time McLean told an outlandish cops that he and Cheryl never went camping, but drove to Boston instead. He claimed Cheryl wandered away while he wasn't looking and he never saw her again.

"He was a suspect from day one," said Chelsea Police Sgt. Jack Calderwood.

But the case remained open until McLean told cops he

Support groups help cancer patients live twice as long

Cancer patients who participate in support groups live twice as long as patients who rely on medical care alone.

That's the startling conclusion from researchers at Stanford University and the University of California at Berkeley.

In an 11-year study of cancer patients, the experts found that those who received medical treatment plus one year of weekly group therapy lived an average of 36.8 months.

Those who received medical treatment alone lived an average of 18.9 months, the researchers said.

Grave-robbing weirdo digs bones of baby who died in 1878

'A Fish Called Wanda' tickled his funnybone — & stopped his heart!

By DAVID MILLER

A doctor literally laughed himself to death in a crowded theater!

The death of Dr. Ole Bentzen, 56, of Copenhagen, Denmark, was the top story in this month's issue of the prestigious Danish medical journal, Medicine Today.

The magazine quoted witnesses as saying that Dr. Bentzen got tickled and began to laugh uncontrollably while watching British actor John Cleese in the smash film, A Fish Called Wanda.

Dr. Bentzen was actually laughing so much when he began to cough and gasp — and fell over dead.

His heart rate must have increased to at least four times its normal rate," Dr. Flemming Bentzen told the magazine. An autopsy revealed that he was in good health.

But the fit of laughter obviously pushed him over the brink. "If I had realized I had the chance

BIG-BUCKS MASSAGE FOR THE SUPER RICH USES REAL GOLD

If you want your skin to have a golden glow, go out and buy a bit of gold — and massage your body with it.

Gold massages are a big hit with the filthy rich Japanese, who pay up to $300 an hour for a full-body rubdown.

"It stimulates blood circulation much more than any other massage cream and eventually makes the skin shine more than regular cream massages," said a Japanese beautician.

As long as the gold is pure, no skin problems should result, said a dermatology specialist.

Man shot — for singing in bed!

By PETE COOKE

A woman got so mad at her husband for singing in bed she picked up a gun and shot him in the stomach, say cops.

Authorities in Baton Rouge, La., said the trouble started when 25-year-old Frederick Hunt hopped into bed with his wife Sheral and their little boy, flipped on the radio and started singing.

Captain Carmen Bueno of the sheriff's office said Mrs. Hunt asked her husband to knock it off several times, but when he kept on singing she picked up her gun and started to leave the bedroom.

"Mrs. Hunt said that she and her husband then got into a fight," Capt. Bueno said.

"She says that when she tried to leave the room he grabbed her and pulled her back in.

"During the scuffle she picked up a revolver and shot him in the stomach in self-defense."

Hunt was rushed to Our Lady of the Lake Hospital where he was listed in stable condition.

Mrs. Hunt, who is also 25, was booked for attempted second-degree murder.

Thief calls in false alarm, robs firehouse

A crafty thief sent firemen racing out on 3 false alarms — so he could waltz in and steal the station's microwave oven while they were away!

"It looks like we were set up," Pittsburgh, Pa., Fire Captain Martin Devine said when he discovered the theft.

Fire fighters had responded to a report of a house fire called in on the city's 911 emergency line. Cops later traced the call to a pay phone near the station.

Zookeeper wants their scalp!

Creeps beat gentle petting zoo sheep to death in park

By JACK ALEXANDER

A fighting mad zookeeper says the cruel creeps who brutally bludgeoned and chipped a lovable little sheep "don't deserve to smell the grass or see the sun shine."

"Look 'em up and throw away the key. They are totally sick," said Donna Fraser, who had fed and cared for the slaughtered sheep for the past 4 years at Tradewinds Park in Coconut Creek, Fla.

Cops believe at least two people slipped into the park's petting zoo under cover of darkness, beat the animal senseless and carted it away.

Heartbroken Miss Fraser discovered the sheep's bloody stall when she came to work the next morning. "We have something awful had happened because of the blood," she said.

Cops got a break in the case two days later from an anonymous caller. "They found what was left of the poor thing buried in the woods across the street," said Miss Fraser.

"It's brutal. I feel sad. This was a little animal that just petted and loved," said Police Det. Carl Jablon.

"I hope they throw the book at the culprits. What they did was miserable and hateful. I don't believe they can be rehabilitated. Their minds are all screwed up.

"Maybe a little jail time will bring them back to their senses."

Two boys, ages 14 and 16, have been arrested and are charged with grand theft, burglary and cruelty to animals.

Jailed preacher phones in sermon

About 25 parishioners were in church when the Rev. Joseph Davis preached his Sunday sermon by phone — from a jail cell.

The preacher was jailed after he was arrested last week on drug trafficking.

The church members, who heard the sermon over loudspeakers, said they will stand by Rev. Davis.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Blocks calorie absorption

SWEDEN – Medical researchers at the University of Kumpla, in Ireland have discovered accidentally a new weight loss formula. The new discovery enables an overweight individual to lose pounds and keep them without dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, the natural levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astonished to find that every patient who took the formula lost weight. The published report of the study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was found" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at Sweden's Sahlgren Hospital. The group of Goteborg. Again, all patients had a substantial amount of weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing the study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits." This patient in the study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to the informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before each meal it helps with the body process called "fats up" calories, preventing their absorption.

A substantial portion of the calories ingested during the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat. The result is rapid body weight loss. Extensive clinical tests have verified the safety of the formula for long term use.

The formula is marketed in tablet form in the United States under the trade name Lida Slim 900. A firm located in Tampa, Florida has exclusive North American distribution rights. Anyone of the millions of the overweight who would like to lose pounds the first week and as much as 20 pounds in one month (results may vary with each person). This is a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that don't want to live by conventional methods.

Call-in 5000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 2-week supply and $49.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. Delivery limited to 4 weeks. Orders are accepted by toll-free phone only. VISA, MasterCard, American Express and C.O.D. orders are accepted. C.O.D. is an $8.00 extra. Orders may be placed by calling Anderson Pharmacy TOLL FREE 1-800-228-3331. Canadian orders call 1-800-228-4781. During the special phone order promotion purchasers of a six-week supply of Lida Slim 900 will receive, absolutely free, a beautiful 24" double strand necklace of sparkling Chinese East pearls.

Call today to begin the pleasant transformation from fat and flab to the slender form body you want! If you fail to achieve a more weight loss you may return the empty bottle

Treasure hunter makes grisly find at dump

By JOE BERGER

An unsuspecting treasure hunter rummaging through a smelly garbage dump made the grisliest find of his life — the ears, nose, eyeball, toes, fingers, face and other bits [redacted] pieces of a [redacted] old woman.

Shocked cops said the 20 bloody chunks of flesh were individually wrapped in [redacted] has yet to be one of the most bizarre cases we've ever had," said Lt. Daniel Adair of the Hawkes Harbor, Utah police department.

trouble to make sure that body was tough to identify. It's got everybody's head spinning.

Riddled Lawmen rummaged the area at the landfill to locate [redacted] but found none. "We've been checking missing persons here locally and around the country, but we still don't know who the woman is," Lt. Adair said. "And we still don't know how she died."

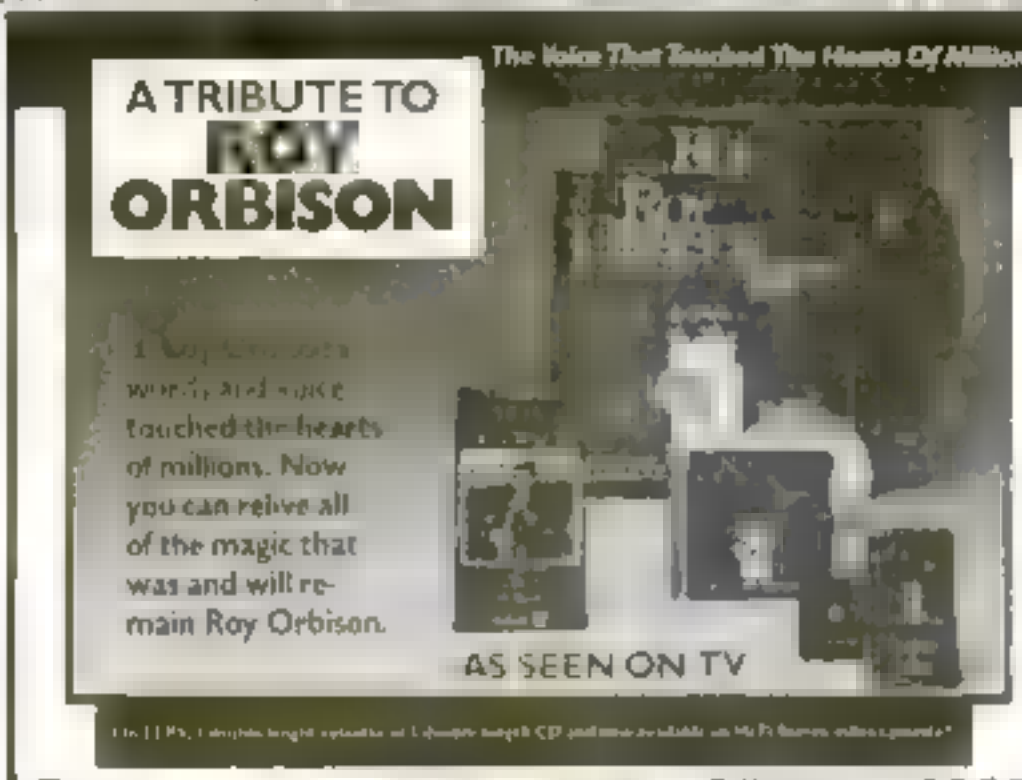
The ill-fated lady was elderly, had brown eyes, brown to gray-brown hair and pierced ears, said a spokesman for the medical examiner's office.

Spokesman Dave Hightower said no bones were found, making identification doubly difficult.

"This is all tissue," he said. "This is about all we can come up with unless someone can find more parts."

Fingerprints were taken from chunks of flesh the culprit sliced from the woman's hands Lt. Adair said.

"But even they didn't do us any good until we have somewhere to match them to," he said.



Hypnotist rapes 80 in trance

A devious Dutch hypnotist raped 40 women after putting them to sleep in his bogus medical practice!

Jan Verbis, 54, attacked the victims after they answered advertisements that offered a cure for whiplash through hypnotism.

Verbis told a court in Amsterdam that he made love to the victims only because "inwardly, they were looking for love."

Toad licking poses threat to youth of America

HOPHEADS have found a new high — licking the skin of this ugly animal

By DANIEL PEARLEY

Untold thousands of American hopheads are risking their sanity and lives by licking ugly toads to get high!

The slimy creatures secrete a mind-altering chemical through their skins to ward off predators

And the substance — like marijuana and LSD, is highly addictive

It has been up the federal Drug Enforcement Administration's list of controlled substances since 1970. But more and more people — especially teenagers and young adults — are licking toads on a weekly basis to experience their minds.

Mind-bending practice is illegal — and deadly!

Student in gorilla mask held up store to get prom money, say cops

By DICK DONOVAN

Cops say a high school senior donned a gorilla mask, armed himself with a knife, then held up a convenience store — to get extra money for his prom!

But 18-year-old Bradley Cleeton soon found he had to face the music when his own parents turned him over to Vigo County sheriff's detectives in Terre Haute, Ind.

Bradley's parents noticed he was acting strange and the description of the robber's gorilla mask sounded familiar.

So they hustled Bradley down to the Sheriff's office where the pyrrhic lad soon confessed to the crime, cops said.

Detectives Jake Crumpton and Bradley's mom and dad had reason to believe their son was involved in the holdup and decided to have him questioned.

Police said they recovered about $600 of the several hundred dollars taken in the holdup.

They said they also have the clothing, knife and the gorilla mask allegedly used by Bradley, who was released on $75,000 bond.

They All Laughed When I Said I Was Going To Start My Own Business

My wife said I didn't know what I was doing. My friends were skeptical. And my neighbors thought I was wasting my time.

Yet I was determined to have a home of my own. Sure I wanted the extra cash coming in. But mostly I wanted the satisfaction of proving to myself that I could do it.

So I quit the rat race with everyone else and started out on my spare time — right there in the basement. I chose Mail Order because I heard you could begin without paperwork or too much capital.

As you'll see below, it was a long haul (I learned a lot) but it was the right choice.

Cash by Mail

My initial investment was under $10 (a little more than that, if you count the pat and rubber stamp I had made). I quickly got up to $1,100 A DAY — MORE THAN $300,000 A YEAR.

On some days the cash still pours in. I'm not the only one who's glad I took a chance. CARD BOARD BOX is filled with everything in the book.

By the time we were all ready to go, my friends and neighbors had stopped thinking I was crazy. They were all telling everyone else how I was right all along. But not at all. I threw a party for those skeptical friends and neighbors at my new home — the one with the big pool in the back yard.

But that was only the beginning. I branched out and started five more mail order firms. I sold everything — from pets to plans. Read Before I Leave, I'll become a millionaire and a respected mail order authority.

Then I began publishing one of the great Mail Order — with a monthly magazine, postage and Profit. I created Mail Order Associates, Inc.

Sex-change dad vows to be a perfect mom to kids!

By SUSAN JIMISON

Transsexual Toni Hamilton-Smith has a head start on most parents — because she is both a mother and a father to her kids!

The 36-year-old Beaufort, Wales, housewife is a single divorcee with three children, so her bizarre background comes in handy.

She coped splendidly with her son Jay, 13, by remembering her own experiences as a teenaged boy. And she can commiserate with her daughters Melanie, 11, and Gemma Louise, 8, because she's a girl too.

Father who becomes a mother rocks world when she wins custody of her children!

"I'm both a mom and a dad to my kids," said the 6-foot 2-inch former bricklayer, who recently made headlines when she gained sole custody of her three children. "I know both sides of the coin.

"I can understand my son's growing pains. I've been through what he's beginning to understand about being a teenager. When my daughters start, I'll be able to identify with them, too."

It isn't [illegible] to say that she's able to offer advice on raising kids that combines the best traits of both male and female parents.

"There are no rules for raising happy children, no matter what sex you are — it's over!

"Some children predominantly have one parent and have a regular schedule that they know what to expect out of life.

"Other kids have. No child can know what's written in their future. And there's no [illegible] them about their changes as well.

"Physically, I have a more well fed, well developed and decently dressed look to me. I provide financially, I give my children good meals and look after them when they're sick. I'm firm and consistent and I always explain to them what they've done wrong so that they understand why they're being punished.

"I make a habit of talking to them. Neither is unbearable in a strong family. Children need to have excellent communication with their parents, to discuss their feelings and their troubles whenever they are upset.

"I'm not a perfect parent," confessed Toni, whose book Step Into My Life will soon reach America. "As a single parent I'm saddled with problems, and as a transsexual there's even more stress to cope with.

"But my kids know as much as they can know about my transsexuality and they accept it.

"My children are my mainstay. Without them I'd crumble. I'm so glad they live with me. Sometimes I cry myself to sleep at night just thinking how lucky we all are."

Fake beeper can get you off the hook fast

Burnt-ugly and looking for a fast exit? Then you may be in the market for the latest in getaway gadgetry — the fake beeper.

Just flip the switch on your Timely Beeper and 30 seconds later a red light flashes and the beeping begins. That gives you a chance to rush away to answer an important call — a call that, of course, never came, Investor Eugene Grant said he was inspired to create the bogus beeper while sitting in church, waiting for the service to end so he could go out fishing. Suddenly a beeper sounded and a member of the congregation slipped out to make a call — while Grant remained stuck in church.

Omega Contract Design of Sunset Beach, Calif., says it's sold 12,000 of the fake beepers at $39.95 a pop.

Midday sun is cancer threat to kids, experts say

Children should avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. and always wear sunscreen to reduce their risk of getting skin cancer, a federal advisory panel reports.

"We are particularly concerned about children because they are most vulnerable to the long-term effects of ultraviolet radiation," said Dr. David Sickers.

Dr. Sickers is chairman of the Department of Dermatology at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland and panel chairman.

"Reducing exposure during the early years of life may significantly reduce the effects that appear in adulthood, such as skin cancer, sagging, wrinkles, leathery texture and blotchy discoloration."

The panel recommended that schools, camps, day-care centers and other facilities reschedule outdoor activities to keep kids out of the sun when it is brightest — and most dangerous — which is usually between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The panel also advised that sunscreens with a factor of 15 or higher be used regularly — even by children younger than 2.

"There are no healthy tans," a panel member, Lawrence Schachner, Professor of Pediatrics and Dermatology at the University of Miami School of Medicine, said.

German tour bus kills POW who survived Nazis

... they finally got him, says the [illegible] daughter

By JOE BERGER

Heroic airman Alan Simpson survived three years of torture and terror in a grimy German prisoner-of-war camp, then was run over and killed — by a German tour bus.

The bus packed with vacationers moved down the unsuspecting veteran in a crosswalk in the heaped [illegible] ...ish to be honored for a reconciliation of his POW buddies.

"It took 40 years but they finally got him," his daughter Catherine told reporters in Lipson [illegible] England.

He took all the [illegible] daughter Catherine said, they could dish out during World War 2 and came back full of life. Now they've nailed him with a bus.

"It really hurts to think of Dad dying there on the streets after he managed to survive all the horrors of war."

The daring airman was captured by the Nazis in 1943 after his bomber was shot down off the coast of Sicily.

He spent the rest of the war in a Bulinde POW camp where he was starved, tortured and tossed in isolation for months at a time because he refused to knuckle under to his cruel captors.

Alan was our inspirational leader," recalled former fellow prisoner Daniel Finn, who spent two years imprisoned with him.

When the war was over, the brave airman returned home, married and raised three children.

But he never forgot the cruelties heaped on him by the Nazis.

"He always hated the Germans for what they did to him," said daughter Catherine.

And in the end, it was the Germans who did him in.

Alan, 67, was crossing a London street when a bus that had brought a load of tourists from West Germany plowed into him, killing him instantly.

"He was crossing at the lights," Finn said. "It's ironic."

Gal tries to settle dress feud with gun — & misses

Two fancy dressers argued for days over who was better dressed at a wedding until one tried to settle the feud with a gun — but teamed with both shots.

"They were extremely jealous of each other and the dress thing just would not go away," said Wayne Shaler, a Chesapeake, Va., police spokesman.

The women, who weren't identified, attended a friend's wedding "and quite few of each other's outfits all during the reception," said Officer Shaler.

"They made snide remarks every time they would see each other for three days," he said. "It was ridiculous but got real serious."

One of the women was standing on a street corner with friends when the other one walked up and fired a couple of shots.

"Fortunately, no one was hurt," reported Officer Shaler.

The kid-despised assailant fled in a black Dodge and hasn't been seen since. Police later arrested Marsh Johnson, 30, and charged him with attempted murder. Cops said he supplied the woman with the gun and helped her escape.

Johnson denied knowing who fired the shots.

Shocked officials nab kindergarten kids in class — with bag of cocaine

Shocked New York City school officials quickly scheduled anti-drug lectures — after kindergartners were found with a bag of cocaine.

The trio of 5-year-olds were playing with the bag of the drug in their classroom. Authorities said the dope apparently was brought to school by one of the children, but it was unclear where the youngster got it.

"We cleared it in her friends," said Howard Lehkin, director of personnel for the school district. "The bag was opened. Some spilled on her desk and some spilled on the floor.

"Out of the innocence of children, the two friends, possibly emulating adults, started to put it near their noses. Whether they sniffed it or not we don't know."

The little girl who brought the cocaine to school was turned over to child welfare officials.

Mom jailed for keeping her baby in trunk!

A troubled mother was sentenced to four years in prison — for putting her 9-month-old son in a suitcase and leaving him in the trunk of her car!

Pamela Mercer, 28, of Indianapolis, Ind., was originally charged with attempted murder. The charge was reduced after mental health experts determined she didn't intend to hurt the baby.

She said she put her baby in the suitcase, then put it in the trunk of her car because she wouldn't find a baby-sitter. The child survived.

Thief stole cash from 9,000 letters — to buy drugs

Crooked mailman rips off donations sent to Jimmy Swaggart!

By JACK ALEXANDER

Thousands of dollars in donations meant for ahamed TV preacher Jimmy Swaggart went up the nose of a drug-crazed mailman with a $100-a-day cocaine habit.

Postal officials estimated Kerry Davies, 32, stole cash from 9,000 letters mailed to Swaggart's Canadian headquarters in Niagara Falls, Ontario, last year.

"Mr Davies could have pocketed as much as $48,000 to $100,000. We just have no idea," said a postal inspector who worked on the case.

The money was sent by followers of Swaggart, whose TV ministry was nearly destroyed a year ago by revelations he met with a prostitute in a motel room.

Postal inspectors investigated after Swaggart's office in Niagara Falls said contributions had dropped dramatically between January and September of 1988.

"We found opened letters from Swaggart followers in Davies' car trunk, his house and in his locker at the post office," said the inspector.

Details of the outrageous theft of three years emerged this week as Davies was fired from the job he held for 14 years.

"The man had a tortured cocaine habit," said the postal inspector. "He told us he spent about $100 a day on coke."

The shocking felony data was found guilty and released on bail pending a pre-sentence investigation during Chatham

That's the fascinating advice of Harvard University researchers Phillip Whitten and Elizabeth Whiteside, who say regular swimming seems to help the middle-aged and the elderly have enjoyable active

They recommend 45 minutes of swimming three days a week for middle-aged men and women.

But don't overdo it. Exercising more than 10 hours a week seems to diminish sexual activity, the researchers say.

Weight Loss Pill Approved for U.S. Gov't. Patent

'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight Already Sweeping U.S.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)

An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by nutritionists in a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" chronically fat-ass and ultra-fat dieters will easily slip into their tiniest and prettiest new pair.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors' claims after a hard to get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like these fat busting pill pellets before." It is actually new magic scientific breakthrough and is projected as one of the weight loss industry

Stop Fat on Contact Scientifically

Best of all "You can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. Yet you can literally fat and inches right from the very first day until you achieve the ideal weight possible without exercising.

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat magnet" pill because it breaks up the deposits of particles, rapidly acting like a tiny magnet, attracting and trapping really fatty particles. Then all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatic Pills" Lose Fat

According to one of the scientists Dr. William Stoll, heart specialist and research professor of health at UCLA medical school, "the new fat busting pellets are the most powerful 'fat burning' weight loss aid ever developed. They automatically eliminate deposits of fat in a fast safe and natural way."

The fat magnet pellets actually start melting pounds and inches of unsightly fat right off your body all without the slightest change in your diet and without exercise.

Now Available to the Public

If you are losing a few (or 50) pounds or more, you can order your supply of these amazing fat fighting pellets from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only. The limited introductory offer with no-risk money-back guarantee. Send $20 cash/check/money order, and signature (Plus $4 shipping & handling) for credit card order. Only $24 total. GIANT HOROSCOPE

By Countess Sophia Sabek

ARIES

Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Love, love, love is always on your mind — but never in your life, it seems. Cheer up, your stars indicate that romance is just ahead for you, and it's going to be a long-lasting, wonderful relationship.

Meanwhile, though, things are definitely going to be tough on the job this week. You need to buckle down and produce until the heat is over.

Little worries that have been causing anxiety will disappear in the next day or two.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

Watch it — you've got an enemy who's planning to harm you and this is announces you must. Be sure to reveal your private thoughts this week and do not confide in anyone. Stay warm and the danger will pass.

A special pleasure is in store for you in the next few days, something that will delight you.

Time to run down on your spending and make moves to save for the future.

You'll soon have excellent opportunities to earn extra dough.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

Believe it or not, your "Dream Lover" really does exist. Better get yourself ready for an exciting jolt out of the blue. Your love's about to pop into your life!

You made a big hit with a certain someone at the office party. Now you have to find a way to cool things down. On the other hand . . .

Resolve now to keep the weekend open for whatever comes along that's new and different. It's a sure swing the time old there is the same old places.

CANCER

June 21-July 20

You're feeling good regardless of the weather and you go out of your way to help a friend. Your spirits are so high you reject rejection, and most even higher.

A heavy work schedule doesn't sap your energy a wipe.

Keep working for a promotion without whining or wheedling for a raise.

Get in touch with an old flame and watch new sparks fly. Love the second time around may be even better than it was the first time.

LEO

July 21-Aug. 22

Things to avoid this week: spicy foods, fast driving and loud colors. In fact, stay away from those fellows all your 'round. They're all grade A dullards.

Keep a sharp eye out for someone older that make this month one to splurge in. Shopping can be a great cure for the blues. A small wardrobe brings cheer.

If you're not in love yet, take heart. Your ship will come. You can afford to be patient when it emerges the love of your life.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Beware! A smooth-talking crony has cooked up a scheme that reeks of danger, and this week they do their darnedest to involve you.

You're tempted to go along out of loyalty and a yen for adventure, but that would lead to disaster. Tell them to take a flying leap.

Your favorite song holds the key to a better life. Listen closely to the lyrics you've been trampling.

A small gamble could pay big rewards, but do your homework before you take the plunge.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

A romantic night out is what you need to get a rocky relationship back on track. Pull out all the stops and have a time you will long remember.

A fantastic money-making opportunity is coming your way and you ought to be prepared to pounce on it. Think out advice if you must, but don't waste your time or you'll miss the boat.

Now is an emotional time to settle a family dispute that has been dragging on for too long.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

A surprise visit from an old friend brings drastic changes to your plans. Keep your schedule flexible in order to cope with the unexpected.

You have been neglecting an important project that needs your immediate attention.

Stop spinning your wheels and get to work right now or you will be very sorry later.

Go out of your way to be extra friendly to neighbors in the week ahead in order to avoid conflicts.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

You're getting played for a sucker by a personal relationship and it's high time you realize it. You give more than you get. You're paying a big price for companionship.

Your diligence and optimism at work will pay off now in big dividends. The boss is considering you for a position of importance that will put more money in your pocket.

Don't be too eager to give your heart without finding out if a person deserves it.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Your generosity has not been forgotten by an old friend. You will be rewarded in a special way for a past kindness.

A special someone is anxious to meet you, but doesn't have the proper approach. This could be the week they overcome their hesitancy and satisfies their curiosity about you.

You've been feeling very good lately.

Find the time to relax and think of yourself.

If your birthday is this week . . .

Romance and adventure are two big words that will highlight the year ahead. But it's vital that you keep your senses fine tuned to recognize the signs. Your finances, too, are warranted for an upswing.

On the other side of the coin, your growing dissatisfaction with your career will only worsen unless you take steps to make changes. The year ahead is brimming with successes. They are yours for the taking.

The months ahead will see you don't expected to you if you can maintain the high goals you have set for yourself.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Wake up, it's time to roll. With a little ingenuity and a lot of hard work, you could make your wildest dreams come true this week — so go for it! A dear friend needs your aid, willing to provide necessary support if you'll only ask for it.

Grab the brass ring now, before it slips away forever.

Someone you seldom see loves you very much. Take time to show him or her that the feeling is mutual.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Your energy level is sky high, making this an ideal time to set goals and start working to achieve them. Avoid a pessimist who would crimp your style.

A chance meeting with an influential person could set the stage for a long and happy relationship. Don't let their status and reputation intimidate you. Speak your mind!

You are on an even keel financially and that isn't going to change anytime soon. But save any extra cash that comes your way.

A retired cop never fired a shot during 30 years on the force, but when a crook broke into his house he grabbed his gun and killed him.

"I sure feel bad for his folks but there was nothing else I could do," said Karle Walthausen, 78, a retired police sergeant in Long Beach, Calif.

The elderly ex-cop tried to pin the burglar to the floor, but the punk kicked and screamed and fought back.

"I was getting weaker and he was getting stronger," said Walthausen, who yelled for his wife to get the gun. "I thought I might be able to hold the gun so he would pull the cone."

But the much younger burglar knocked the gun out of his hand and they grappled for it. "I thought if he gets the gun, we're gone," said Walthausen.

"So with my last bit of strength, I pulled the gun away from his hand, and it went off. I felt him sliding down, and I never even knew where I hit him until after the coroner came."

Police didn't identify the dead man, who was shot in the head.

Bummed-out [redacted] waits for his alarm [redacted] go off — then commits suicide

A [redacted] soldier facing court-martial set his alarm clock, then sat for four hours with the muzzle of a gun in his mouth until the alarm went off and he pulled the trigger.

The bizarre suicide of Private Shane Coles occurred in Tidworth, England, the day before the British soldier was to plead guilty to a charge of counterfeiting checks.

Officers said Coles, 21, locked himself in a room in his barracks at 11 a.m., set the alarm clock on his wristwatch for 3 p.m. and waited for the alarm to go off.

Friends said Coles, who was dressed in full uniform, told them that 3 p.m. "was as good a time as any" to die.

"His expressed his absolute intention to die at 3 p.m.," said Lt. Colonel Tim Glass, Coles' commanding officer. "When the alarm clock went off he bent his head forward and pulled the trigger."

"I have had enough of this life," Coles told an officer before killing himself with an assault rifle. "The next one will be better."

Will I die in the electric chair on my 33rd birthday?

Dear Countess Ashok: I was born Aug. 13, 1955, and I've got a real problem which involves a dream I have about three times a week.

In the dream I'm in a prison cell and I glance at the watch on my wrist and it says 6:57 a.m. Then, about two minutes later, three prison guards and a priest come into my cell and say, "It's time, Johnny boy."

The dream, which I've had maybe 50 or 60 times, never varies. I'm taken to a bare room where there is an electric chair and I'm strapped in. I scream, but no sound comes out of my mouth.

Then one of the guards says, "It's Aug. 13, 1988. Happy birthday, Johnny boy."

The guard puts a black hood over my head and seconds later I feel electricity go through my body. Just about then I wake up and try to scream, but it can't.

If I'd only had this dream once or even twice, I'd never have written to you. But to have it this often scares me, and I'm not easily scared.

What does it mean, Countess? Am I destined to die in the electric chair? Will the date of my execution be on my 33rd birthday in 1988? Please advise. The life you save might be mine. — Shocked in Shreveport

Dear Shocked: I've studied your star chart in 2000 and be-good — and I see you living a full and long life. Recurring dreams like yours usually mean a deep-seated psychological problem stemming from a childhood incident.

Study your past especially an accident relating to electricity. Once you find that out of your mind, the dreams will be gone. I promise you.

Dear Countess Ashok: My birth date is 3/31/37. Please tell me what 1988 holds for me.

The man I've lived with since 1982 says he loves me but doesn't want to marry me. I need more — a home, happiness and money.

Will I meet a man who will get married one time more?

Will I be able to sell the real estate I've been trying to sell for a long time? I've spent all these painful years and endured other things.

Thanks in advance for any advice you can give me. — H.W. in Michigan

Dear H.W.: Where the full moon enters Gemini next month, concentrate the mind only matters you will be able to see clearly and your profound thoughts and inner wisdom will guide you to decisions about your romantic future.

I also have a feeling that you're about to launch a successful little business selling your baking-craft products.

Dear Countess Ashok: I would like to know what you see in my future. Will I still be your lover?

Perhaps I am too old to ask this question. I was born Oct. 3, 1921. — A.W. in Puyallup, Wash.

Dear A.W.: Browsing your chart, I see the outlook is mostly a sunny one, with only really dark clouds on the horizon. Your financial situation will not change, but true happiness is found in the company of your family and friends.

Cherish their companionship, for nowhere else the rich and rewarding life you are looking for.

Dear Countess Ashok: Although my husband left me for another woman six years ago, I still have nightly dreams that he will come back to me. Also, during the past six years, I have been seeing a man I love. Now he is leaving me for another woman.

I am desperately unhappy at this point in my life, not only because I am about but because the job I've held for nine years is coming to an end.

I would like to know if there is a chance that either of these men will return to me.

If so, will we be happy like everyone else? Is there any good news in my future? I was born 11/14/47. — I.M. in Pittsburg, N.Y.

Dear I.M.: Struggle as much as you like during the next few months, for a person who has some of the answers you're looking for will be introduced to you.

Also, if not now, Uranus enters Scorpio, bringing a surge of self-confidence and opportune power which will enable you to find a new job and put those romantic problems behind you.

Are You "Different?"

Are you one who is known, in the language of mysticism, as a "Seeker?"

Do you think it possible that space people once visited Earth and perhaps built the pyramids of antiquity?

Do you believe in the Ancient Wisdom taught in secret doctrines only to the children of the Mystery Schools of long ago? Did you know there is a Mystery School in existence today? There is. It's called Aetara.

By taking just a moment to read this carefully, you can quickly tell if you are the special kind of person who benefits from the teachings of Aetara. If you are such a person, the rewards may very well be lifelong.

If you are the intrigued person who benefits from Aetara, you:

• Think for yourself. You want the privilege to accept or reject the teaching you may receive.

• You are an adventurous seeker. You don't mind going beyond the conventional to find advanced ideas.

• You want to gain an spiritual understanding. You want to feel God, if possible, experience for yourself what the great sages and seers of all time have known.

• You are interested in Ancient Wisdom teachings, spiritual healing, ESP, esoteric and western philosophy as opposed to dogmatic churchianity.

Do you qualify? Do you fulfill these characteristics? If so, you will want to know more about Aetara, the organization which, for more than 50 years, has been helping other special seekers like you reach for the stars within yourself.

It costs nothing to learn whether or not you and Aetara are compatible to fulfill every potential you possess for self-growth and self-realization. A booklet, Finding Your Place in the Golden Age, explains it all for you. It's yours for the asking. No obligation.

GAL DROPS DEAD FROM PRAYING!

By JACK ALEXANDER

God-fearing Jeanette Devine lived her young life for the Lord and was so emotional about it at a church service that she prayed herself to death.

Coroner Vern McCarty said the religious young woman dropped dead from stress cardiomyopathy, an incredibly rare heart ailment.

"It's most common in folk literature as a person who dies of a broken heart or is frightened to death," said McCarty.

Miss Devine, 28, was attending a night service at Faith Deliverance Church of God in Reno, Nev., when she met her maker.

"She became the center of attention among the congregation at a particularly long prayer session," said Police Lt. Ron Galeota.

Miss Devine was asking God to cast the Devil from her body when she collapsed after jumping up, shouting and rolling forward, witnesses told cops.

The stunned crowd, which had been clapping, singing and lifting their hands in prayer as Miss Devine prayed, thought she had merely fainted.

But she wasn't breathing when paramedics arrived at the church. She was pronounced dead shortly after arrival at Washoe Medical Center. Authorities were stunned by the news.

"It's a strange case, to say the least," said Lt. Galeota. "She prayed so hard, it killed her."

Poor lady leaves note for would-be thieves

A poor woman whose house had been broken into many times put a sign on the door telling robbers there is nothing left to steal.

"Notice to thieves: If robberies — nothing left," reads the sign on the front door of Helen Ferris' house in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"If they can read, they'll know they will be wasting their time," signed the frustrated homeowner.

HOW TO COLLECT Social Security At Any Age

Cash in on Government Give-Away Programs

(Special) A new book written by a former Federal investigator tells how every American can collect their share of the $250 billion that will be handed out this year by Uncle Sam. The book explains how to collect social security before retirement, small business loans, income supplements, education benefits, farm loans, unemployment, job training, even welfare and food stamps. Here are just a few facts covered:

- How 33 million Americans, over-aging present age 35, collect monthly social security checks.
- How to make the entire family eligible for social security, even your youngest child.
- How you may be cheating yourself out of social security benefits.
- How almost 2 million children get monthly social security checks.
- How to qualify for disability payments (over 3.5 million people collecting that thousands more eligible).
- How to work and still collect social security.
- How to find out how much you have paid into Social Security.
- How to know when to quit work and start collecting social security.
- How to get a lump sum payment.
- How to get a $240,000 loan to start your own business. It's simple and the bank tells you exactly how to do it!
- How to collect a $200,000 loan to buy a farm or ranch, including livestock and equipment.
- How to collect a $67,000 loan for a mobile home, including lot.

2,000-year-old

EMPEROR Nero of Rome felt most delighted in seeing Christians torn to pieces by lions. Terrifying spectacle of starving big cats and screaming victims were recently heard coming from the 2,000-year-old Colosseum.

After judge ordered her NOT to get pregnant . . .

MOM RISKS JAIL TO HAVE BABY!

Child abuse mom Debra Forster was ordered to use birth control by an angry judge — but months later she was pregnant again, risking jail to have another baby.

The 18-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., woman had lived 26 years in the slammer for leaving her two small sons on their own for an entire weekend. The little boys — 6 months and 13 months of age — nearly died after three days in her sweltering apartment, but both recovered completely.

In June 1988, Judge Lind[illegible] was [illegible] Debra to probation and made her promise to use birth control if she was released from jail. Months later, the feeble-[illegible] was pregnant again.

"She was highly [illegible] and the most [illegible] order was impossible to enforce," explained Debra's probation officer, Laura Scott. "She gave birth to the new baby in April 1989, but it was taken from her custody.

"Debra is immature. It's a case of children having children. Debra needs a mother more than she needs a kid."

Debra, who has had [illegible] babies since she married her husband Norman, 26, at the age of 14, is trying to get her life together, Miss Scott said.

She has a part-time job and is back in school, trying to earn her high school diploma.

Her children have been adopted or placed in foster care because Judge Ellis ordered her not to have the care or custody of her own children, Miss Scott said.

"I talked to her about birth control, but she had high blood pressure and wouldn't take the pill," Miss Scott said.

"After her baby was born the judge lifted the birth control portion of her sentence because it was unenforceable. It was a controversial sentence and it was," she said.

ghosts haunt Roman Colosseum!

POPE John Paul II

By MEL VAN HOY

Hundreds of people claim o have been awakened in he middle of the night by he blood-curdling screams f men and roar of lions in he Roman Colosseum!

Citizens were so shaken by he incident that they actually etitioned Pope John Paul II to ray at the 2,000-year-old sta- ium where thousands of Chris- ians were thrown to the lions in he 1st century A.D.

"We don't know what to make of ," Police Captain Marion Caretti told ewsmen. "The screams and roars asted almost five minutes beginning 12:37 a.m. on June 5.

"Hundreds of people were awakened nd most of them were terrified. It's pos- ible that the sounds were the work of a reakster with a big tape player and oudspeakers.

"But we have no proof of that. It's urely speculation."

In fact, people who heard the ghostly oises as far as 20 blocks away said cops re out of their minds if they think prankster was responsible for the creams.

"There isn't a stereo on Earth that ould reproduce sound like that," Dino Haze, who lives seven blocks rom the crumbling stadium, old newsmen.

"The roars of the lions were liberating in my chest. The creams were blood curdling. They were definitely made by real men."

Franco B. Trumbath, the Italian acoustics expert, has taken a personal interest in the case.

After speaking to more than two dozen witnesses, Trumbath is convinced that the screams were those of Christians who were thrown to the lions by Roman persecutors like the emperor Nero 1,900 years ago.

"Sounds made by people and animals during times of extreme trauma and stress have been known to be heard hundreds and even thousands of years later," said the expert.

"This is a phenomenon that's quite common on battlefields the world over.

"It is quite possible that the screams of Christians and the roars of the lions who ate them are trapped in the Colosseum, possibly for all time."

Pope John Paul has not responded to the request for Sounds of hungry lions feeding on screaming Christians terrify city!

ACOUSTICS expert Franco Trumbath believes that the ghostly screams were real.

THOUSANDS of Christians died for their beliefs as the stands — and jeers — of hungry lions, nearly 2,000 years ago in Rome's Colosseum.
